By signing, you have represented that you are the author and owner of the photo and/or have all rights necessary to provide this submission to The Herald and you have granted The Herald an irrevocable royalty-free license to publish, republish, distribute, copy and edit the submission an unlimited number of times in any print, electronic or other medium.

Also, by signing, you have read all information regarding announcements, including the information on proofing the copy and the deadline on proofing. If we don't hear from you before that time, we will assume the copy has been approved and it will publish as is. No credits will be given for mistakes that you overlook during the proofing process.

We strive for perfection as we reproduce your photograph at an important time of your life. However, due to mechanical constraints associated with web offset printing presses and newsprint, we are not able to achieve levels of quality associated with magazines or photo studios. As such, we do not provide reprints due to any defect that may occur during the printing process.
